DEMOCRATIC FIGHT IN MARYLAND IS ENDED

Bitter Contest for Nominations for State Offices—Republicans Take Little Interest in Fight—State Ticket Will Be Selected Without Opposition

(Special to the Capital.)
Baltimore, Md., Aug. 29.—The political campaign which has kept Maryland stirred from end to end for more than three months closed last night in a whirlwind finish and today the primaries of both parties were held throughout the State.

The Republicans, with no rivalries for the principal nominations on their State ticket, have shown little activity. The Democrats, on the other hand, have been aroused by bitter factional contests for the nominations. This, added to the fact that it is the first time that nominations for State offices in Maryland have been made by the direct system of ballot, causes the results of the primary balloting to be awaited with the keenest public interest.

Interest centres almost wholly in the fight between State Senator Arthur P. Gorman of Howard county, son of the late United States Senator Gorman, and State Senator Blair Lee of Montgomery county for the Democratic nomination for governor. Not only the gubernatorial nomination but a bitter fight for the control of the Democratic State organization is involved in the contest for the head of the ticket.

Gorman is backed by the regular State organization and hopes if nominated and elected to make the governorship the stepping stone to the United States senate in succession to Senator Isidor Rayner. The real director of the Gorman fight is Senator John Walter Smith, the leader of the State organization, with John J. Mahon, the Baltimore city leader, as chief lieutenant.

The opposition, variously termed as the insurgents or progressives, is headed by Congressman J. Fred Talbott, Governor Austin L. Crothers, who withdrew from his candidacy for re-election to help Blair Lee, and former Governor Edwin Warfield.

Congressman Talbott is the real leader in the fight against Gorman. Member of the National Committee, boss of Baltimore county, and a lifelong organization man, Talbott was a trusted lieutenant of the late Senator Gorman, and followed the lead of the great State boss for a quarter of a century without question. Today he is found leading the support of Lee for the gubernatorial nomination and doing his utmost to defeat the son of his former chief.

The real secret of Talbott's turn-about-face in the political arena is to be found in young Gorman's well-known ambition to enter the United States senate. After the death of United States Senator Congressman Talbott aspired to succeed to the seat, but was defeated in his ambition by John Walter Smith, who had the support of the younger Gorman and who has since managed to retain a firm hold on the State organization. In the present fight Talbott again seeks to wrest the party leadership from Senator Smith by defeating the latter's choice for the head of the State ticket. If Lee wins the nomination for governor, and is elected, he will have, in the patronage of his office, all-powerful weapons with which to beat down the old organization, create a new one, and retire Senator Smith to private life. Lee's success, according to the general understanding, would mean the election of Congressman Talbott as the next United States senator from Maryland.

The Republicans appear to be well satisfied with the situation. They contend that whether Gorman or Lee is defeated in the primary the Democratic party will be split wide open and that the nominee will be killed to such an extent that the Republican ticket should be able to win handily.

There are no contests for the Republican nominations. The State ticket was agreed upon in conference and will be named in the State convention without opposition. Phillips Lee Goldsborough of Berchester is the choice for governor, W. H. Cunningham of Carroll county for State controller, and Morris A. Soper of Baltimore for attorney general. The ticket is regarded as exceptionally strong, representing as it does both the younger Republicans and the older element of the party.

Mr. Goldsborough, who is to be the nominee for governor, is a native of Somerset county, and a lawyer by profession. In 1896, when the Republicans were in control of the legislature, he made a strong fight for United States senator, but was defeated by George L. Wellington. In 1897 he was elected State controller. In 1902 President Roosevelt appointed him collector of internal revenue for the Baltimore district, and he was reappointed by President Taft.

BUSY WEEK FOR LAURIER

(Union Press Service.)
St. John, N. B., Aug. 29.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier came to St. John today to begin a week's campaign in the Maritime provinces. In addition to this city the Premier is scheduled for addresses in Digby, Halifax and New Glasgow, Nova Scotia; Charlottetown, P. E. I., and Moncton, N. B.

KENORA WON

Port Arthur, Ont., Aug. 29.—Kenora's four-oared crew won the district championship at the Thunder Bay Canoe Club's annual regatta, taking the Canoe Cup and individual gold medals presented by Louis Walsh. The final heat with Governor of Port Arthur was very close, Kenora winning by only two feet. Six crews competed, including two from Port William. The Kenora crew was composed of Newson (stroke), Osterstein, Hay, Fitzgerald, and the older element of the party.

AMERICAN YACHT WON

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 29.—The Watkinson team, of Watertown, N. Y., won the first race for the George Cup. The course was a ten-mile triangle off the Exhibition grounds. Only three boats started, the Watertown, the Vivia II, and the Kathleen. There was little wind and a smooth sea when the race started but a brisk breeze was blowing when the boats crossed the line. The Watertown led the Vivia by over 100 yards at the finish, with the Kathleen nearly five minutes behind.

OHIO STATE FAIR OPENS

Columbus, O., Aug. 29.—The opening today of the annual State Fair of Ohio has attracted thousands of visitors from all parts of the State to this city. Everything indicates that this year's fair will prove more successful than any previous State fair held here. The managers have made great efforts to enlarge the scope of the exhibits and to increase the list of attractions. The list of prizes to be awarded is larger than ever before and the competition, consequently, much keener. The exhibit of the Ohio Experiment station is attracting unusual attention. For the lovers of the racing sport the management has arranged for trotting and running races for every day of the fair.

Umpire Evans, of the American league, was a sub on the Cornell baseball team when Hush Jennings was coach of the squad.

VOTES ON COMMISSION PLAN

(Union Press Service.)
Knoxville, Tenn., Aug. 29.—A special election was held in Knoxville today to decide the question of the proposed amendment of the city charter so as to provide for the commission plan of government. Advocates of the commission plan, including nearly all of the business men of the city, have waged a strenuous campaign in its behalf and are confident that the final results of the balloting will show a substantial majority in favor of the charter amendment.

RECALL OF JUDGES BE NATIONAL ISSUE

President's Refusal to Pass Arizona Bill, While It Contained Objectionable Clause, Will Result in Question
Being Settled at Polls This Fall

(International News Service)
Washington, Aug. 29.—That the President's veto of the Arizona and New Mexico statehood bills has made the recall of judges a national issue to be fought out before the people of the entire country, during approaching campaigns, is the emphatic opinion expressed by many members of Congress. Members of the House committee on territories, the majority of whom believe that Arizona should be permitted to incorporate the recall in its constitution if it so desires, believe that President Taft's action has done more to re-ignite the issue of the initiative, referendum and recall than anything else.

Members of the committee, at a meeting which was called to consider an attempt to over-ride the President's veto, did some plain talking. Before the President's veto, it was pointed out, the recall was more or less a state problem, to be fought out among the states themselves. Oregon may not recall the judiciary. The California legislature has voted to submit an issue to the people, and the bill came along from Arizona, which incorporated the recall in its constitution. The initiative and referendum is employed in several states.

President Taft has now made the recall a national issue of one to be decided by the states. The President declared that he would never approve a constitution of Arizona which incorporated the initiative and referendum. Such a course on the part of the President, it is charged by members of the committee that the progressives of the country have been furnished with an-entirely new basis with which to attack the President.

The veto of the President's Arizona message will be heard in the western states, especially in the Western states where the initiative, referendum and recall is a genuine ground for the progressive Republicans, as well as the Democrats.

President Overrules People
Regardless of what action may be taken by Congress toward annulling the two new states, the national issue will be there just the same. Whether the President's veto is over-ruled, or whether Congress backs down to a certain extent and yields to the dictate of the White House by requiring that the recall be eliminated from Arizona's constitution, it will have but little effect on a future situation of this latest growing movement.

Representative Martin, of Colorado, one of the Democratic members of the House committee of territories, summed up the situation thus:
"The President's veto of this state-that we think he is right about this matter, but our action will be based on the desire to let in these territories without further searching."

Lawyers in the house point out that the President admits that Arizona may not recall the judges into its constitution as soon as it is admitted to the union. Oregon has the recall and she has the right to it, and if forced to do so, she would have to do so. This fact led some constitutional lawyers of the house and senate to think that the President's veto is a rather useless document, if Arizona is really determined to have her own way.

The President had no objection to the New Mexico constitution, but since the two territories have been linked together in their long fight for statehood, New Mexico must wait until the recall issue is settled.

There is no doubt that the President has made the recall a national issue, and this veto will be heard in the approaching national campaign.

NEWS FORECAST FOR THE WEEK

STATE PRIMARIES IN MARYLAND—LAURIER IN MARITIME PROVINCES—UNVEIL STATUE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29.—Both political parties in Maryland will hold state primaries today for the selection of candidates for the state offices to be filled at the autumn election. Interest centers chiefly in the contest for the democratic gubernatorial nomination between State Senator Arthur P. Gorman and State Senator Charles Lee. Phillips Lee Goldborough will receive the republican nomination for governor without opposition.

Republicans of Alabama will hold a state convention in Birmingham Thursday to select a new state committee and chairman and to consider the state representation in the next national convention.

The republican candidate for congress to succeed the late Alexander Mitchell as representative of the Second Kansas district is to be nominated by the congressional committee at a meeting to be held Monday in Kansas City.

A conference of state railroad commissioners is to be held Tuesday in Lincoln, Neb., to discuss methods of obtaining physical valuation of railroad property.

In addition to a dozen or more state fairs in various parts of the United States the week will see the opening of the annual industrial exposition at Milwaukee, the Canadian National exhibition in Toronto and the provincial exhibitions in Quebec, British Columbia and other sections of the Dominion.

The political campaign in Canada is expected to be continued with increased energy on both sides. Sir Wilfrid Laurier will carry his campaign into the maritime provinces, while Robert L. Borden, leader of the opposition, will continue on the platform in Ontario and Quebec.

The statue of Steuben, which was presented to Germany by the American congress, is to be formally dedicated in Berlin Saturday. The statue is to be dedicated in the presence of the emperor, the American ambassador and many other notables, and the function will be made a picturesque and literary ceremonial.

TO DISCUSS NEGRO'S RIGHTS
(Union Press Service)
Boston, Mass., Aug. 29.—With an attendance, larger than any of its predecessors, the fourth annual convention of the National Independent Political League opened its three days' session here today. The league is an organization of colored men who believe they should use their votes for the general betterment of the race rather than to procure political offices and that the American negro should not give his support to any particular political party. The convention will close with a large meeting at Faneuil Hall on Wednesday evening. Dr. J. Milton Wilson, J. H. Clifford of Marlborough, Mass., who is president of the league, and other noted leaders of the colored race will deliver addresses. It is expected that the attitude of the convention will vitally influence the political attitude of the negroes in the presidential campaign of 1912. It is pointed out as a significant fact that while the lower house of congress is overwhelmingly democratic, it has, so far, shown no inclination to attack the political rights of the negro.

CORROBORATION BY SIR DONALD MANN

In his interview given to the Capital Sir Donald D. Mann says that his company intends to build a road along the same general lines as the Great Waterways into the Lac La Biche country, which line will form a junction with the line from Battleford, which is now being extended toward the Lower Athabasca country.

By this arrangement the main line of traffic from the north will be eastward through Battleford, and a branch from this line which will be built into Edmonton will effectually make impossible any independent road to give Edmonton possession of the trade of the north.

This intention on the part of the C. N. R. was the crux of the agitation against the Waterways and the occasion for the intrigue against Alberta government which proposed to open the north in a way that would work out to the benefit of the cities of this province rather than to the benefit of the cities to the east.

The statement by Sir Donald Mann is merely corroboration of what the Capital has been pointing out for more than a year.

THE WATER PROBLEM
 THE IMMEDIATE QUESTION

The exasperating frequency with which the water plant breaks down and leaves the city without water admits of no other conclusion than that the plant is either a miserable failure or that the men in charge do not know how to run it.

Whatever the cost, the city must have an adequate supply of water. It is up to the commissioners to find out where the real difficulty lies and to remedy it, even if remedying means the cost of an entirely new water plant.

There is nothing of greater importance before the commissioners at the present time, and nothing requiring more immediate attention. If they can furnish the city with a solution of the water problem they will at least prove thereby that they can rise to a necessity which their predecessors failed to meet.

WHAT ADVERTISING COSTS IN THE BIG DAILIES

A single page in a single issue of the Century taken for advertising purposes costs $500; in Harpers $400; in other prominent magazines from $350 down to $100. A yearly advertisement of one column in the Chicago Tribune costs $26,000; in the New York Tribune $29,000 for the lowest, and $35,950 for the highest rates; in the New York Herald $36,203 for the lowest and $49,000 for the highest priced column. These papers, it is said, are never at a loss for advertising to fill their columns. These figures will doubtless be of interest to the man who invests a few dollars on the understanding with himself that he is purchasing something of doubtful value when he buys newspaper space.

A FIGMENT OF THE IMAGINATION

The dispatch covering the Humber Bay meeting in Centre York in which it is announced that John Galbraith refused a nomination must certainly be wrong. The idea that John Galbraith ever refused a nomination for anything from poundkeeper up will be recognized at once by Edmontonians as a figment of the imagination of some irresponsible dispatch writer, a story so incredible as to be ridiculous.

While in Edmonton John Galbraith's consuming desire was to get a nomination from any party for anything at all, and failing every other recourse he finally nominated himself. Having accepted his own nomination he proceeded to talk of revelations which he was prepared to spring unless he was given a safe seat and a portfolio.

The result was one of the jokes of the last provincial elections. The joke in the present instance is on the dispatch writer who allowed himself to take Galbraith seriously.

WHERE THE CHICKEN GOT THE AXE
 By James W. McDice

The rooster in the chicken coop is crowing loud and long, And all the heifers, large and small, Are joining in his song. The Lechons and the Wyandottes Are laying eggs in stacks, For the Chicken Trust has got it, Where the chicken got the axe.

The egg-men and the onelette A bright new era see, And share congratulations With the chicken franchise. The trust has long oppressed them With a most outrageous tax But now the trust has got it, Where the chicken got the axe.

No wonder now the bantam crows Throats out his well-filled crop, His enemy at last has felt The terrors of the law. A million wishbones cheer today, The laws they thought were lax, For the Chicken Trust has got it, Where the chicken got the axe.

A SURPRISE

The newly-made bird stood in his newly-made grounds, with a new-made smile of proprietorship upon his face. He was the monarch of all he surveyed.

Beyond the added gates that divided his estate from the road he espied a couple of old countrywomen. They were staring through the bars with admiration depicted in every furrowed line of their features. "Some of my parishioners, by Jove!" drawled the lordly one, turning to his companion. "The admiration of the town's very amusing." Wonder what they're saying.

As they drew within earshot they heard the older woman exclaim: "Just what I was thinking myself, Jane—what a lovely bird that would make to dry the washing in!"

These fellows here," said the manager of the asylum, as he conducted his visitor through the building, "were disappointed in love."

"Poor creatures," exclaimed the sympathetic visitor. "And these," said the manager, opening the door of another ward, "were not disappointed. They married."

The visitor shuddered and shook his head, and they walked along the corridor in a sad and understanding silence. As they went by an open door the visitor caught sight of a middle-aged woman sewing.

"Heavens," he cried, "what suffering is depicted on that poor lady's face! Tell me, who is she?"

"She?" roared the manager. "Why, that's our private sitting room, and she's my wife!"

"THIS IS MY BIRTHDAY"

Albert Francois Lebrun, who holds the post of colonial minister in the new French cabinet, was born in Mercey-le-Haut, August 29, 1871. He received his preparatory education in the lycium at Nancy and later attended the Polytechnic College and the National School of Mines. For several years after finishing his education he held a professorship in one of the leading technical schools of France. About eight years ago he first became active in political affairs in his home district and subsequently was elected to the Chamber of Deputies. As a member of the chamber he soon attracted attention by his readiness in debate and his wide and thorough knowledge of practical affairs. His appointment to the important position of colonial minister at an age when most men are still fighting for recognition occasioned little surprise in French political circles.

A Good Stenographer
 By Winifred Black

Miss Emma Brown, of Chicago, writes to the papers of that city and asks what she can do.

"I am a stenographer," says Emma Brown, "and a good stenographer, too. But I can't keep work because I'm thirty years old—too old, they all say, to get and keep a good place in a nice office. What shall I do, commit suicide or do housework for a living?"

Now, Emma, what's at the bottom of all this honest and truly, now, what's the matter with you and your work?

A good stenographer and you can't get work because you are thirty?

Why, I know at least a dozen busy men who would give their last year's hat—and you know how a man clings to his last year's hat—for a good stenographer—a good one, mind—and they don't one of them care a straw if a copper cent whether that stenographer is thirty, thirty or sixty.

They wouldn't know either, when it came right down to it, unless the stenographer took up their time by telling them the date of her birth.

Good stenographers are about as rare in this day as good maple sugar or real honey in the real comb.

What do you call a good stenographer, Emma? A quick-tempered, sensitive, disorganized creature who can write like a machine, and be as hateful about staying five minutes after the regular hour as if she were a rattlesnake instead of a woman?

A sneaky person who's always whispering in corners about the boss's wife, and sniffling at the idea that the boss knows enough to go in when it rains, even if he does earn enough to pay you a fairly decent salary?

What do you call a good stenographer, Emma? A gossiping, meddling, nosy, insinuating, acrimonious old maid, who can't keep her mouth shut about the affairs of every other man, woman and child in the office to save her life?

What do you call a good stenographer, Emma? A pretty girl who is too unable to learn to spell, and who thinks if a good joke she can't employ-ment has to tell her how to write "Pierpont" if he happens to be writing about the head of the house of Morgan?

What do you call a good stenographer, Emma? A woman who has never heard of the Panama Canal, or of William Jennings Bryan, or of Gaby Resays or of any other earthly human being but the "kinks" in the dancing club, or the "boys" at the social reunion?

A good, capable, intelligent, hard-working stenographer, out of a job because she's thirty.

Whisper! What is the real reason? We'll never tell. Jealous of the younger girls in the office and getting them set against each other?

A clock watcher, a mischief maker, bad spelling, too many telephoning friends, and that is it? Do tell us, Emma, you've roused us to the pitch of frenzy, you really have.

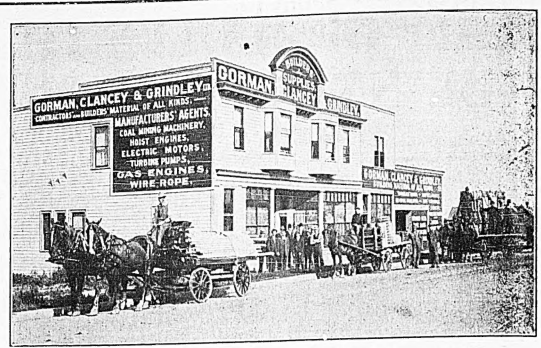

But thirty years old, and that's the reason? Please don't be angry, Emma, if I stop to smile.

The contest for governor of Massachusetts this year is expected to be unusually lively and interesting. Governor Eugene S. Foss, who came here mentioned in connection with the nomination for vice-president, will be named by the Democratic party to succeed himself. Lieutenant Governor Frothingham is a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, as are also Joseph Walker and Norman White, both members of the general assembly.

And is now satisfied with the modern convenience which a "Parkyte" Closet affords those whose homes are in the country or the suburbs of any city, where sewerage connection is impossible.

Why are our local hospitals overcrowded today with typhoid patients? For the reason that these patients or their neighbors have not kept their surroundings in a sanitary condition. The pestilence that lurks in every corner of refuse and decaying matter about our backyards and buildings, together with the unsanitary and unsightly pit closet, are the two great causes which we have to fight against. Can any sacrifice be too great or any monetary compensation too heavy a price to pay for the preservation of a single human life? What will a parent not suffer to safeguard his offspring from disease or risk from whatever source? Be wise and install a

City Will Surely Spring Up Where Rail and Water Meet

C. N. R. Will Tap Thousands of Acres of Wheat-Producing Country When It Reaches Peace River—Old-Timer Believes Railway Will Head for Coast

Wherever the line of the Canadian Northern, now being constructed northwest from Winnipeg, strikes the Peace River, a large city is bound to spring up. At least this is the conviction of Lewis Baily, who has some 20 years' experience in the Peace River valley and who is now in Edmonton on his way north to purchase land in the Peace River valley for a syndicate of Vancouver capitalists.

Mr. Baily does not share the popular opinion that the road will strike the Peace river at Dunsmuir. The line from the Peace at that point rises above the water's edge to such a height as to make it impossible to build a city with a water front furnishing satisfactory shipping facilities, he says. He believes that the rails on the river will not somewhere to the west of Peace River Crossing, and that when the Peace is bridged eventually the C. N. R. will head for Laurier Pass, constructing a line through its deserts which will reach the Pacific some where near Stuart, B.C.

"When the C. N. R. reaches the Peace River," he said this morning, "it will tap directly four hundred miles of a straight wheat country, the products of which will be shipped to the northern termini of the railway, by means of the Peace River.

According to Mr. Baily, a considerable extent of the land fronting on the north shore of the Peace is owned by the Cree Indians. River lots varying in size from 10 acres to 150 acres were surveyed out when treaty money was first paid to them and they were allowed to purchase whatever land they had made improvements on. The title to the land purchased was given them without condition of any kind and some of them are now offering their holdings for sale. Some of the parcels are exceptionally well situated right on the fertile flats of the Peace. Those of about every 100 acres are offered for sale and are added to the river front of the Canadian Northern Peace river line. It will be some time before the title to the railway terminates.

testimony and the discussion of it may well be omitted from the printed report.

Court of Patent Appeals

The subject of the proposed court of patent appeals was dealt with at length with regard to the committee on patent, trademark and copyright law, which reported its ineffectual efforts to have congress pass a bill creating such a court and explained its reasons for declining to do so. "Congress has been ready to give up everything except what we want," the proposed court, as recommended by a vote of the American Bar association, was the opinion of the judges, who would have all appeals from patent decisions. The committee reported various ineffectual attempts by congress to pass bills adding the functions of the proposed court to the commerce court and the court of appeals of the District of Columbia, concluding that "experts on patent, copyright and trademark law only could do the work satisfactorily."

"The proposed court, properly organized," reported the committee, "will be as permanent and scarcely less important than the supreme court itself." A bill now before the house reported by the committee, introduced by Representative Sulzer, of New York, which embodies all the ideas of the bar association, and the committee declares: "We owe to Mr. Sulzer our best efforts to assist him in the passage of his bill."

The committee on jurisprudence and law reform says in its report: "It is interesting to note the variety of subjects referred. They include the 'third degree,' alibis, woman's suffrage, revision of laws and increase of judicial salaries." The committee refuses to recommend the referred resolution, aimed at the "third degree." The proposition is to exclude confessions in all criminal prosecutions unless obtained from a third person selected by the accused. The committee objects to the phrase "all criminal prosecutions" as too broad, and declares that laws will have to be made to cover the special conditions existing.

As to the "third degree" resolution, which was offered by Judge Baldwin, giving the federal government jurisdiction over aviators who make interstate flights, the committee declares it "cannot recommend the adoption of the resolution. The policy of the association is not to propose legislation unless it is in a subject of general interest, and about which there can be no reasonable doubt as to the necessity for legislation. The navigation of the air has not become so general as to permit uniform legislation so as to fix with legal certainty rules for its government. The foreigners who make interstate flights, the committee declares, are not yet so numerous as to justify the enactment of legislation. Commerce by air has not yet attained sufficient growth on which to justify its regulation by congress; and even if legislation were desirable, it is not deemed proper to say that while a common carrier by land or water is exempt from loss caused by the act of God, a common carrier by air should be made responsible, whether injury resulted from negligence or from inevitable accident, or via mail." Unless liability springs out of some contract, or arises out of some tort, the carrier should not be held liable in damages, whether the carrier be by land, sea or air."

Woman Suffrage
The relation of the woman suffrage, the committee refuses to consider, dodging the issue by saying: "It is not deemed proper for the association to take part in any political discussion."

A number of the matters referred to it, the committee declares in its report that "no higher duty rests upon the majority or than to advise the line the science of jurisprudence. To effect this purpose, there should be a scientific and expert study of the formulation of laws in the United States, to the end that their number may be increased, and their quality improved," but it is evident that such a study would not undertake this work, and that no special committee could accomplish it. The work can only be done by congress, and we are informed there is now a federal commission engaged in it.

Judicial Salaries
In regard to its efforts to cause an increase of judicial salaries, the committee says: "In view of the action of congress on this subject, in the passage of a bill on March 3, no further action in this matter is desirable."

The committee on judicial administration and remedial procedure was assigned at the last convention to strive to have the congressional committee postpone action on the bill to abolish the circuit courts until the association could investigate the matter further and report its attitude to congress. In report, the committee records the action of congress in disregarding their plea and passing the bill and comments: "The consideration of the merits of a pending bill is one thing; holding an autopsy on a bill that has become a law is quite another thing." Regarding the present status of the court of appeals, the committee declares it "has become a thing apart, with an Olympian atmosphere as chill, dim and neutral as the supreme court itself."

The report of the Comparative Law Bureau of the association contains the translation of the Visitation Code into English by S. P. Scott and declares that work is now progressing on the translation of the Swiss Code by Robert P. Shick and Charles Wetherill and of "Lasciola Parilla" by J. P. Scott. Summarizing, the committee declares: "The year, as a whole, indicates a very satisfactory average in the science of comparative law in this country, not only among lawyers, but also among judges, as shown by the great increase of legislative reference bureaus in the various states during the past year."

Other Committees Report
Reports were also made at tonight's session by the committees on legal education and admission to the bar, international law, grievances, obituaries, and taxation.

Despite the heavy work of the day, the members of the association found time for entertainment, between the nine and evening sessions. An excursion was made by special cars to Cambridge, where there was an inspection of buildings and the law library of Harvard University and a reception by President Lowell of Harvard.

The other regular sessions of the convention will be held tomorrow and Monday morning. The adjournment will come after the selection of the next annual convention city and the election of officers at the Thursday meeting.

EUROPEAN ARTISTS ARE HARD TO GET

AGENT FOR GENTRY BROTHERS TELLS OF TROUBLES GETTING FOREIGNERS HERE

Few persons who visit the great United States, which are distinctly an American institution, realize the work attendant upon organization. An insight to these difficulties is obtained when one familiar with them goes into the detail of the work necessary in getting shows under way. A day or so ago an agent for Gentry Brothers All-News Features shows, which will visit St. Louis next Friday, took into his confidence a man seeking enlightenment. To him the agent told of the difficulties in getting foreign artists, the world's greatest artists, who are with the Gentry shows this season.

"No one," said the agent, "what difficulties beset the managers of shows when they are booking acts, secure a part of the show. To give one an idea of that I merely have to tell you of a few of the details dependent upon the work."

"Last winter when our organizer went abroad he travelled for weeks incessantly. He visited the circus buildings and the theatres, carefully seeking the many features to select those that would most please American audiences. Finally he decided upon the acts wanted and then his real work began."

"He sought the persons he wanted to bring to this country. They were skeptical, did not want to come to America and were afraid to trust themselves in this country away from home and friends. Consequently, it was up to a resourceful American to overcome these prejudices. Offers of salaries, in excess of those paid in their own country, constituted the first attraction. Then with the aid of United States consuls, the foreigners were assured of the integrity of American institutions."

"After many weeks of negotiation contracts were closed by agents of Gentry Brothers shows. As a result they are presenting this season many things new to America! Among them are: Bouchar and Blandhard, Germany's leading acrobats; Marcello and Loret, tumblers from Paris; the Gentry Trio of aerial artists; Madame Heloise, the world's greatest equestrienne; and Capt. Bouchar, Spain's greatest animal trainer, who presents a wild animal act that is without peer."

"The greatest trouble with foreign performers," concluded the agent, "is teaching them American customs. Some come here for a season that do not become American citizens. They realize the liberties of this country and become Americans."

The showman grabbed his suit case and was gone.

Committee Has Difficulty In Finding Commissioner

Unlikely Report Will Be Made to Council Tonight—John Stocks Offered Position But Refuses to Accept—Says Servants Not Appreciated by Citizens

John Stocks, whose name has been mentioned every time a city commissioner is thought of, is not to be in the running for the fourth term. Although for a second time the job of commissioner has been carried out on a "four day" basis, the government building and with salaries ago due, suddenly professed him the deputy minister has looked grave, slightly examined the list, and refused it with thanks. Upon this last occasion Stocks came nearer falling for the plan than before, it is said, and if the committee carrying him the position had been convinced by half the population it is quite likely that the deputy minister would have forsaken his professional patronage and taken a day at the presidency.

Mr. Stocks considers that the people of Edmonton are not very appreciative of faithful servants. Serving the public where one's work is under the interested eye of every passing citizen and when each twelvemonth a change in municipal administration may be heralded as a sign of the progress of the city, the commissioner is not so much a public servant as a public nuisance.

ent work with the fair association's affairs, it is not unlikely that the place on the board would be offered him. Mr. Harrison is a public official, is dealing with public affairs and can understand with a right and grace all questions, pertinent or even impertinent, that the public chooses to ask about public affairs.

So as the situation stands the commissioner is as yet entirely undecided, and there is hardly likely to be a report of the special committee at the end of the week. The committee has been left to fence their farms in a council meeting this evening.

OFFICERS OF RUGBY CLUB HAVE RESIGNED

President Belanger Has Too Much Business to Look After and Secretary McPherson Will Be Too Busy—Resignation of Treasurer McLean Is Expected

In spite of the excellent start which the Rugby club got away a few days ago it is already experiencing trouble. The president yesterday announced his resignation and today the secretary states that he will be unable to fill the office which was given him. It is expected also that the treasurer will resign within a few days.

President Belanger states that his time will be too fully taken up with business matters to attend to the numerous duties which are part of the job of president of the Rugby club. The secretary, Mr. McPherson, unfortunately is also afflicted in the same. To discuss the trouble which has fallen upon the club there will be a meeting of the executive on Thursday night. The two officers who have already resigned and the treasurer, who is expected to resign have all been officers of the club for more than a year. They were all in the same offices last year and their work towards making the season as successful as it was is much appreciated by the members of the club, who would then continue in office during the coming year.

SPORT COMMENT

LABOR DAY

The program for the labor day sports, now scarcely a week away has been issued and entries will start to pour in. The program is an excellent one giving as it does opportunity to every class of athletes to do something in his own particular line. Although some of the champion athletes may be a few days away from town, there will, it is expected, be some remarkably good competitions. It was at the labor day sports that DeLozier ran the fastest mile that has ever been run in Alberta, the race being a handicap event and the time 4:31.5.

This handicapping of races should be encouraged. Some of the races may not be a success if handicapped, but if the handicaps are properly arranged, the event should always be interesting.

ANOTHER JOKE THE RUSH

What is going to happen to the hockey teams of Montreal and Ottawa now that the rush for players has started by out side clubs? Frank Patrick of Vancouver, has already many men on his list and now it is announced that Percy Quinn of the Toronto club, has also visited Montreal and the Capital city for the purpose of grabbing players, for the new professional team in Toronto. Quinn is a former hockey and lacrosse player on the shamrocks of Montreal, being on player with that club championships in both these lines of sport, and is a good judge of material. Should the ranks of the Wanderers and Ottawas be depleted to any extent it would be a better thing and ensure a closer championship race.

DATES FOR FINAL GAMES IN PLAY-OFF FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

The Provincial Football association has not yet done anything towards setting the dates for the final games for the provincial championships. It is to be hoped that they will wait until all the men are out of condition before ordering the games played.

The Bismarck shield, which is at present held by the Calgary Canadians, is emblematic of the championship of the province. It is usual to play off by the decisions. Both the Calgary and the Edmonton in the semi-finals and the winners battle for the championship.

BERRY PICKERS WIN THE FOURTH GAME FROM IAW

Montreal, Aug. 28.—The pennant champions lost the fourth game in a series of five. They had the game won in the first inning, but were forced to play in hand until the end of the fourth inning, the score being 3 to 1 in their favor. Then the berry pickers started a batting rally, which, with several unrecalled errors, netted them six runs and the game. The berry pickers called the game in the fifth on account of darkness.

REGULATIONS FOR BOXING.

New York, Aug. 29.—The regulations drawn up by the newly organized State Boxing Commission to govern boxing contests in New York State went into effect today. The rules are of the most stringent character and are calculated to place the sport on a higher plane than it has ever before been. Physical fitness of the participants in boxing bouts is to be insisted upon and a referee is to be discouraged, liquor must not be used in places where contests are in progress and care is to be exercised in the selection of club officials. San day exhibitions cannot be held under the new rules, and no person under eighteen years of age is to be allowed to participate in any boxing contest. No decisions are to be rendered except in amateur tournaments.

Cowpunchers Made Three Runs in the Seventh Innings and One in the First, While Edmonton Failed to Make a Tallie Throughout the Whole Game

In seven innings, a costly part of which was played in a driving rain, the Calgary baseball team defeated the Eskimos by a score of four to none. Calgary swatted the ball, getting twice the number of hits that are credited to Edmonton, which was three. Three of Calgary's runs came in the seventh inning after two were out, the plays leading up to the scores being two singles, a walk and a two bager.

Three new men were in Edmonton lineup, although they did not play. Spiesman, a man from the Central Alberta league, who missed a try-out last night because he came was called, and Foster, who will probably be given a chance in the box before the end of the week. Fisher is the only leaver worker, who has been doing such good work in the amateur leagues.

The Cowpunchers secured a lead of one run in the first innings and until the seventh the score board remained a row of zeros. Several times both teams had chances to score but either failed to come through with a hit or were in the field. In the sixth Edmonton had two men on bases with one out, and Wilson, busley and Sluht died in order in the same innings Calgary had the bases full, one being out. Sluht dropped one down towards the pitcher and a double was made at the plate and at first.

The playing of neither was brilliant. Vancouver, the Eskimo, who played second base for the Calgary team, made some bad muffs in that position. Van did not appear to be able to catch when they came towards his next hand. In spots there was some snatching, but the regular run of the game was not very good.

Score by innings:
Calgary.....100 000 3—4
Edmonton.....000 000 0—0
Summary—Two-base hits, Chick, 1; three-base hits, Chick, 1; first on balls, off Ford, 3; struck out, by Ford, 3; by Manning 2; double plays, Ford to Sorenson to Sluht; hit on bases, Edmonton 3, Calgary 7; hit by pitcher, Vancouver, 1; runner, slout bases, Paper 2, 1; Time of game, 1:20. Umpire, Wheeler. Attendance, 500.
